Exon Vetoes U.N. SEAT FOR CHINA URGED Cigarette Tax

... 'Threat To Sales, Income Levies'

Gov. J. James Exon Monday warned the Legislature that enactment of a cigarette tax bill earmarking all additional revenue would ''s eriously jeopardize the prospects of holding the line on sales and income tax rates."

Exon formally delivered his veto message striking down LB87 shortly after the Legislature adjourned for the day, clearing the way for a dramatic bid to override the governor on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff issued a statement charging that Exon and Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha may drive Bob Devaney "out of Nebraska" with their opposition to a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse.

Proud has led floor opposition to the blil.

As a result of the Omaha senator's remarks about Devaney during earlier debates, Carpentersaid, "the people of my state should not be too surprised if he makes the decision to move to other areas in which he will be more appreciated and more respected.

director to "ridicule (and) a lack of respect," Carpenter

Supporters of the bill will need at least 30 votes to override the governor's veto. Both sides late Monday predicted a close

$6.9 Million

LB87 would increase the state cigarette tax by five cents a pack, raising an additional $6.9 million in annual revenue.

The first $695,000 would be used to construct a new recreation center at the Beatrice State Home, and the remainder of the funds would be divided evenly between a new fieldhouse and a new state office building.

In a lengthy veto message, Exon suggested that the office building should not be constructed at this time and he proposed that the NU Athletic Department consider financing at least a protion of the fieldhouse cost with athletic revenue or other non-tax funding.

'Unsound, Unfair'

LB87, he said, is "a hastify conceived measure, an unsound and unfair adventure in taxation and appropriation techniques.'

Most of the additional $6.9 million in annual revenue "should be available to meet this state's future basic requirements," Exon said.

"Have you, as senators, considered what this amount of money could do in the next five years to reduce property tax loads by additional state aid to education with properly spelled out safeguards to reduce local

Made To Nixon By Lodge Commission

Recommendation

Washington (P) - A presidential commission which views membership in the United Nations as "a duty not a privilege" Monday urged President Nixon to back U.N. seats for both Communist and Nationalist China.

The commission, headed by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, favored also U.N. seats for East and West Germany, North and South Vietnam and North and South Korea as well as the two Chinas.

The report came at a time when President Nixon was studying a separate U.S. government report dealing with recommendations for U.S. strategy at the United Nations toward the China question and for U.S. recognition of the Paking

Go-Betweens

It was released also at a time when the State Department confirmed that the United States had utilized third governments as gobetweens to inform Peking that President Nixon wished to improve relations with the Peoples Republic of China.

State Department spokesman Charles Bray confirmed that the Nixon administratio's desires had been discussed with a number of other governments and it "seems quite possible that representatives of those other governments made known our views to the Peoples Republic

The State Department did not say what response there has been from Peking, if any. But Edgar Snow, in an article written for Life magazine, said Mao Tse-tung told him he would be happy to talk to Nixon, either as a tourist or as President. The report by the blue-ribbon Lodge commission said the United Nations "can best do its job of war prevention and settlement of disputes if its membership includes all governments of the world provided they subscribe to the principles of the U.N.

It said this meant all governments which govern specific areas, "even though they may not control all of the areas they claim." This appears designed to bridge over Nationalist China's claim to be the government of all of mainland China although it controls only Taiwan. It would also take care of Peking's claim to Taiwan. Both Peking and Taiwan regimes have rejected any two-China policy.

'Growing Pubic Support'

"The commission has found," the report said, "growing public support in the U.S. for the involvement of the Peoples Republic of China in the work of the U.N. There is also a deep American commitment to the continued representation of the Republic of China on Taiwan (Nationalist) in the U.N

The report said a great many Americans think it is fair to have two separate seats for two different governments, each clearly controlling different areas

On other U.N. questions, the commission proposed that the U.S. support the establishment of a U.N. peace reserve and the development of a permanent corps of military observers. It suggested also that the United States cut its U.N. contributions to a maximum of 25% from the present contribution of some 31.5%.

For the nations with populations of less than a million, it was suggested that these become associate members.

Unicam Rejects Food Sales Tax Exemption The Legislature Monday shot down Gov. The bill had been stuck in the Revenue Committee for weeks before it was yanked

J. James Exon's campaign pledge to exempt food purchases from the sales tax But, in a post-mortem interview, the governor said he is not ready to give up the Exon said he is prepared to push for a vote of the people on a proposed constitutional amendment to wipe out the food tax. His bill to exempt food, LB567, sponsored by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, was killed on a 26-15 vote after a perfunctory debate Skarda's effort to advance the measure to second stage floor consideration fell on a 14-26 count before Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell provided the knockout blow.

Enactment of the bill would reduce state revenue by $4,854,000 a year and put added pressure on sales and income tax rates, Whitney

But Skarda noted that Exon's hold-the-line budget for fiscal 1971-72 anticipated the revenue

As the bill was amended on the floor.

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha said the bill presented the Legislature with "the one opportunity to help all the people of Nebraska, especially those on fixed income and those with children." Sen. Jules Burhach of Crofton, sponsor of an earlier bill to increase the food tax credit from $7 to $10 per person in order to provide tax relief on food purchases, said that measure was "the businesslike approach" to the problem.

But Exon vetoed that bill, and the Legislature subsequently sustained the governor's action.

"I'm wasting my time," Skarda said in rounding out the brief debate. "At least, we got this out in the open."

Kennedy Defends Health Care Plan

Washington (UPI) - Sen. Edward M Kennedy got a chilly reception Monday from the Senate committee which would have to raise taxes by $68 billion by 1974 to finance his bill providing government health insurance for all Americans. Kennedy conceded the figure looked high, but he insisted that taxes raised by the government could buy more and better health care than Americans would get spending the same sum out of their own pockets. The Massachusetts Democrat.

who has promosed to carry the issue to the country, outlined his plan for cradle-to-grave health insurance under which no one need ever again pay a doctor or hospital bill before a cost-conscious Senate Finance Committee.

'Scare Tactics'

He brushed aside as "scare tactics" talk of skyrocketing taxes. "You can delude the American taxpayer by not raising his taxes and having him pay the money by other means,"

said Kennedy when Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., argued the bill would raise social security payroll taxes to 20% of all wages

Kennedy did not stay long enough to hear Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of health. education and welfare, decry the Kennedy plan as one which promises more than it can deliver and which could touch off a rebellion from doctors who refused to participate.

Richardson said the $405 a year the average American household pays in taxes for government health programs of every variety would swell to $1,271 under Kennedy's bill.

The competing Nixon administration bill would require all employers of one or more workers to provide comprehensive health insurance for which employers would pay 75%

of the premium and workers would pay 25%

Kennedy and Richardson agreed that the nation's total medical bill is likely to rise by one-third between now and 1974, reaching $100 billion a year by

Their only dispute was over how to meet the tremendous upsurge in costs.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the popular demand that the government help meet soaring health costs and given rise to a political paradox.

"Americans want the best health care money can buy," he said. "On the other hand, Americans are predictably sensitive when it comes to paying taxes required to finance the program. No one knows the maximum tax load the American people will tolerate."

Terry: 'May Drive Devaney Out' ... Exon Vetoes U.N. SEAT FOR CHINA URGED Cigarette Tax

. . . 'Threat To Sales, Income Levies'

Gov. J. James Exon Monday warned the Legislature that enactment of a cigarette tax bill earmarking all additional revenue would "seriously jeopardize the prospects of holding the line on sales and income tax rates."

Exon formally delivered his veto message striking down LB87 shortly a fter the Legislature adjourned for the day, clearing the way for a dramatic bid to override the governor on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff issued a statement charging that Exon and Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha may drive Bob Devaney "out of Nebraska" with their opposition to a new University of Nebraska fieldhouse.

Proud has led floor opposition

As a result of the Omaha senator's remarks about Devaney during earlier debates, Carpentersaid, "the people of my state should not be too surprised if he makes the decision to move to other areas in which he will be more appreciated and more respected."

Proud has subjected the NU football coach and athletic

$6.9 Million

LB87 would increase the state cigarette tax by five cents a pack, raising an additional $6.9 million in annual revenue.

The first $695,000 would be used to construct a new recreation center at the Beatrice State Home, and the remainder of the funds would be divided evenly between a new fieldhouse and a new state office building.

In a lengthy veto message, Exon suggested that the office building should not be constructed at this time and he proposed that the NU Athletic Department consider financing at least a protion of the fieldhouse cost with athletic revenue or other non-tax funding.

'Unsound, Unfair'

LB87, he said, is "a hastily conceived measure, an unsound and unfair adventure in taxation and appropriation techniques."

Most of the additional $6.9 million in annual revenue "should be available to meet this state's future basic requirements," Exon said.

"Have you, as senators, considered what this amount of money could do in the next five years to reduce property tax loads by additional state aid to education with properly spelled out safeguards to reduce local taxes?

"I think not!"

On

Exon repeated his earlier suggestion that the revenue might be placed in the general fund or used to establish a capital construction sinking fund.

"To earmark the expenditure of $30 million which is to be extracted from a limited number of citizens is unacceptable by any standards," the governor wrote the senators.

(Sponsors of the bill have guessed that sufficient funds would be raised in four years to finance both the office building and the fieldhouse.)

Cost Not Known Enactment of LB87 would commit the Legislature to construction of a fieldhouse "without knowing even how many millions are required," Exon said. "The fieldhouse dollar needs

Iowa State used athletic funds and gifts to help finance its new fieldhouse, the governor said. Missouri used a combination of general tax support and athletic funds, he said.

Reasonable

"It would seem reasonable to explore how much in funds might be expected and generated from the athletic programs of the university for such an endeavor," the governor said.

State Department spokesman Charles Bray confirmed that the Nixon administratio's desires had been discussed with a number of other governments and it "seems quite possible that representatives of those other governments made known our views to the Peoples Republic of China.'

The State Department did not say what response there has been from Peking, if any. But Edgar Snow, in an article written for Life magazine, said Mao Tse-tung told him he would be happy to talk to Nixon, either as a tourist or as President.

The report by the blue-ribbon Lodge commission said the United Nations "can best do its job of war prevention and settlement of disputes if its membership includes all governments of the world provided they subscribe to the principles of the U.N. Charter."

It said this meant all governments which govern specific areas, "even though they may not control all of the areas they claim."

This appears designed to bridge over Nationalist China's claim to be the government of all of mainland China although it controls only Taiwan. It would also take care of Peking's claim to Taiwan. Both Peking and Taiwan regimes have rejected any two-China policy.

'Growing Pubic Support'

"The commission has found," the report said, "growing public support in the U.S. for the involvement of the Peoples Republic of China in the work of the U.N. There is also a deep American commitment to the continued representation of the Republic of China on Taiwan (Nationalist) in the U.N.

The report said a great many Americans think it is fair to have two separate seats for two different governments, each clearly controlling different areas.

On other U.N. questions, the commission proposed that the U.S. support the establishment of a U.N. peace reserve and the development of a permanent corps of military observers. It suggested also that the United States cut its U.N. contributions to a maximum of 25% from the present contribution of some 31.5%.

For the nations with populations of less than a million, it was suggested that these become associate members.

Unicam Rejects Food Sales Tax Exemption

The Legislature Monday shot down Gov. J. James Exon's campaign pledge to exempt food purchases from the sales tax. But, in a post-mortem interview, the governor said he is not ready to give up the Exon said he is prepared to push for a vote of the people on a proposed constitutional amendment to wipe out the food tax. His bill to exempt food, LB567, sponsored by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha, was killed on a 26-15 vote after a perfunctory debate Skarda's effort to advance the measure to second stage floor consideration fell on a 14-26 count before Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell provided the knockout blow. Enactment of the bill would reduce state revenue by $4,854,000 a year and put added pressure on sales and income tax rates, Whitney But Skarda noted that Exon's hold-the-line budget for fiscal 1971-72 anticipated the revenue

As the bill was amended on the floor, the exemption would not have taken effect until next Jan. 1. That postponed effect, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff suggested, would be a strange way of providing immediate aid for the poor. Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha said the bill presented the Legislature with "the one opportunity to help all the people of Nebraska, especially those on fixed income and those with children." Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, sponsor of an earlier bill to increase the food tax credit from $7 to $10 per person in order to provide tax relief on food purchases, said that measure was "the businesslike approach" to the problem. But Exon vetoed that bill, and the Legislature subsequently sustained the governor's action.

"I'm wasting my time," Skarda said in rounding out the brief debate. "At least, we got this out in the open."

The bill had been stuck in the Revenue Committee for weeks before it was yanked to the floor for consideration.

Exon said he may present the Legislature with a bill proposing a vote of the people on the issue.

Or, he said, the Democratic Party may join with other groups in sponsoring an initiative petition effort to place the issue on the of state to refuse to accept initiative or referendum petitions on revenue matters.

Kennedy Defends Health Care Plan

Edward M. Kennedy got a chilly reception Monday from the Senate committee which would have to raise taxes by $68 billion by 1974 to finance his bill providing government health insurance for all Americans.

Washington (UPI) - Sen.

Kennedy conceded the figure looked high, but he insisted that taxes raised by the government could buy more and better health care than Americans would get spending the same sum out of their own pockets. The Massachusetts Democrat, who has promosed to carry the issue to the country, outlined his plan for cradle-to-grave health insurance under which no one need ever again pay a doctor or hospital bill before a cost-conscious Senate Finance Com-

'Scare Tactics'

He brushed aside as "scare tactics" talk of skyrocketing taxes. "You can delude the American taxpayer by not raising his taxes and having him pay the money by other means,'

said Kennedy when Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., argued the bill would raise social security payroll taxes to 20% of all wages

Kennedy did not stay long enough to hear Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of health. education and welfare, decry the Kennedy plan as one which promises more than it can deliver and which could touch off a rebellion from doctors who refused to participate.

Richardson said the $405 a year the average American household pays in taxes for government health programs of every variety would swell to $1,271 under Kennedy's bill.

The competing Nixon administration bill would require all employers of one or more workers to provide comprehensive health insurance for which employers would pay 75%

Kennedy and Richardson agreed that the nation's total medical bill is likely to rise by one-third between now and 1974, reaching $100 billion a year by

Their only dispute was over how to meet the tremendous upsurge in costs.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the popular demand that the government help meet soaring health costs and given rise to a political paradox.

"Americans want the best health care money can buy," he said. "On the other hand, Americans are predictably sensitive when it comes to paying taxes required to finance the program. No one knows the maximum tax load the American people will tolerate."

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was a heavy weekend for politicking that just ended. Democrats gathered for their annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner while Republicans had at it with a State Central Committee

The Democrats listened to Senator Ed Muskie pour it on in behalf of a U.S. pullout from Vietnam while the GOP turned to the conservatives for party leadership in the future. In the comparison maybe Nebraska mirrors the national scene and maybe in that we can find something of more than passing

Muskie may not be sounding the majority opinion in the U.S. when he talks of setting a date for pulling out of Vietnam. We doubt that the demonstrators in Washington on Saturday, even if they numbered half a million, were indicative of the majority of the America people.

But the anti-war proponents may be building up a following on the side, so to speak. Certainly, the demonstration in Washington might have reflected a majority feeling of all citizens under the age of 25. If so, the only party in which they would have a voice would be the Democratic party.

in a weekend column, youthful writer Steven Levine talked about Sam Brown, one of the young leaders of today's anti-war movement. Brown, while apparently quite militant, believes in working within the framework of established political struc-The vehicle to which Brown looks is the Democratic party. He says: "I have a strong feeling that most Americans would prefer to see a restructuring of the economy in a more equitable manner. They would prefer to see a foreign policy based on more positive value. They would prefer to live in a society in which a concept of justice is at least as important as law and order.'

There you begin to see the second fallout for the Democratic party. While a majority still might support the President as things currently stand in Vietnam, that war has changed a lot of attitudes.

Vietnam is the end of the line for what it stands for and people want something else in the future. The Democratic party's anti-war attitude makes them the party to look for in seeking a change in directions in many areas for the future.

President Nixon has not come off well in most areas. including matters on the domestic scene. His welfare reform program was proven to be too little and too heavily laced with the work syndrome discussed separately on this page yesterday.

His drive to convert federal programs into block grants and revenue-sharing with the states has not met with much if any enthusiasm. His solutions to the unemployment problem have been usurped by Democratic proposals and the state of the economy in general remains shaky.

What the Vietnam situation may be doing is to give the Democratic party the motivation for a more sensitive approach to political matters all up and down the line. And by now, the party can lose nothing, at least, with its growing criticism of present U.S. Asia policy.

A great many people undoubtedly take issue with some of the more militant political activists on the scene today but we are of the feeling that the climate of opinion of the naion is shifting along the lines described in general terms above by Sam Brown.

The American people, short of some kind of drastic influence, seldom take kindly to militant action. Generally speaking, they do approve of an orderly approach to things and they have a lot of conventional convictions but they know that the nation has a great challenge to meet.

They know that not all things are right and they will be searching around for the party and the candidates who offer a possibility of change. The Vietnam war has contributed immensely to this feeling.

Environmental matters have also had a big impact upon the people, hammering home the reality of the need for greater understanding of the world in which we live. We seriously doubt that conservatism represents the wave of the future, whatever it might do for the GOP in Nebraska.

roads are not run for the operating. Only 3,300 are in use benefit of the dear public. That today, and Railpax intends to cry is all nonsense. They are built for men who invest their money and expect to get a fair percentage in return." That was William Henry Vanderbilt speaking as his special train approached Chicago on Oct. 8, 1882. Vanderbilt, president of the New York Central Railroad, also provided the two reporters interviewing him with a quote that has echoed through time — "The public be damned.

Well, now the public is damned if it is going to ride the railroads. The number of rail passengers has dropped to such a low level that Congress set up a private, federally funded corporation last October to run the moribund service. The National Railroad Passenger Corp. - Railpax - will take on this formidable task on May 1. Railpax's mandate is to streamline and modernize railroad travel and to make a profit while doing so. To this end, the corporation already has sharply curtailed the number of passenger trains and routes. Further attacks on the integrity of the property tax system are in the works. LB817, which would change the method of valuing real property held for sale, awaits initial debate on the floor of the Legislature. It was advanced from the Revenue Committee on a 5-1 vote.

The measure would add to the formula for determining value of property held for sale by real estate dealers two additional criteria, one of which would allow previous sale prices to be disregarded.

In an opinion, the State Department of Justice said that under the terms of the bill, real estate dealers would constitute a separate class from other taxpayers and that there is no constitutional authorization for such a class. There is a serious question as to the constitutionality of the bill, the opinion said, both because it allows different treatment of real estate in the hands of dealers from real estate in the hands of non-dealers and because it treats real estate differently from tangible personal property. Aside from the threat that the proposed

Dear Thosteson: After using cortisone for several years, if signs of side effects should appear, would discontinuing the cortisone reverse the damage or would it be permanent? What of indomethacin or other drugs, as to effectiveness and side effects?-M.B.J.

There's been excessive concern about "side effects," in my opinion, but that remark doesn't apply to today's letter. So many times I've been told, "The doctor prescribed—but I read so much about side effects that I never took any."

"side effects" is unreasonable, but reasonable awareness of them is only good sense.

Cortisone is useful for some cases of arthritis, when a small maintenance dose brings results. This often can be continued for a long time. With small dosage, side effects, if any, will not be either sudden or catastrophic.

Thus if such signs as water retention may in time begin to appear, they will subside when the cortisone is stopped. (This medication should be withdrawn gradually, not abruptly.)

Therefore, there is ample time to avoid the more serious possibilities which develop with large and continued dosage-bone fragility, mental disturbance, and the like. It is the excessive use, not the moderate use, that can lead to permanent damage.

The same principle, in general, applies to other potent medications which are effective in combating rheumatoid arthritis. Indomethacin (and even the widely-used aspirin) testinal bleeding. In either case, taking the medication immediately after meals lessens the possibility of this troùble.

It is the doctor's responsibility to watch for signs of any of the rarer side effects. But for a patient to try to learn all the remote possibilities does no good and makes him usually into a worry-wart. * * *

Rogers The 'Quiet One' In Nixon's Cabinet;

Turns Attention To Middle East And China WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Rogers is beginning to play an increasingly significant role in the Nixon administration's foreign policy planning. The preoccupation in Washington with Vietnam and White House diplomacy has tended to overwhelm the quiet influence Rogers has been exerting, particularly in the Middle East and post-Vietnam It would be wrong to say that he opposes the President's timetable for withdrawal from South Vietnam, but he manages to look vaguely irritated about the whole subject of Vietnam and has obviously been concentrating on other problems. For personal and religious reasons, Henry Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, has not played a prominent part either in U.S. Middle East or German policy. In fact, there is some evidence that Kissinger's support for West Germany's efforts to reach an accommodation with the Soviet Union is not pronounced, and while he was deeply involved personally in Middle East policy wnen Syria attacked Jordan, he has left the development of the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations primarily to Rogers and Assis-

This has not been an easy assignment for Rogers and his minister, Abba Eban, who held colleagues at the State a large private meeting with view of the situation: That is to Department. Israeli officials, including Premier Golda Meir and Ambassador Rabin here in Washington, have been convinced for years that the State Department was full of Arabists, and they have done nothing to discourage the pro-Israeli lobby which tends to be critical of Rogers every time he tries to work out a compromise in the Middle East.

The Israelis feel that Rogers has been so eager to produce a settlement in the Middle East - this being his main field of activity - that he has suggested terms which place Israel's security in danger, and actually interfere, as they see it, with the chances for a compromise settlement. Nevertheless, it is Rogers and Sisco who have kept pressing the Middle East question, who are largely responsible for the cease-fire, now in its ninth month, and who managed, through several unpublicized missions and messages to President Sadat in Cairo, to get Egyptian concessions the Israeli government did not think possible. Rogers has not been pleased with the efforts of Israeli officials to lobby with U.S. senators against his policy, and tant Secretary of State Joseph was actually forced to have a secret meeting of the Senate in order to counteract the influence of the Israeli foreign

U.S. legislators, but Rogers has say that we have won the war kept insisting to President and should come home. Also, Nixon that now, if ever, is the he has managed better than time for a Middle East deal, most members of the Nixon and Nixon has finally cabinet to maintain good authorized him to pursue his personal relations with both inquiries personally in the Chairman Fulbright of the Middle East.

For Rogers, this is a critical mission. According to his intimates, he would like to complete his work at the State Department at the end of Nixon's first term, or even before more prominent role in postwar then, if a Supreme Court appointment were available to

He was more surprised than anybody else when he was offered the most prestigious post in the cabinet, particularly since he took no part in Nixon's election campaign, and was, in Rogers will undoubtedly be fact, engaged in some professional difference with Nixon before the election. He is not presiding over a satisfied or happy government department. The time is not right for that. The State Department has been in the shadows ever since Nixon entered the White House, and morale has declined even further since Under-Secretary of State Elliot Richardson went to head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

It was a heavy weekend for politicking that just ended. Democrats gathered for their annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner while Republicans had at it with a State Central Committee

The Democrats listened to Senator Ed Muskie pour it on in behalf of a U.S. pullout from Vietnam while the GOP turned to the conservatives for party leadership in the future. In the comparison maybe Nebraska mirrors the national scene and maybe in that we can find something of more than passing

Muskie may not be sounding the majority opinion in the U.S. when he talks of setting a date for pulling out of Vietnam. We doubt that the demonstrators in Washington on Saturday, even if they numbered half a million, were indicative of the majority of the America people.

But the anti-war proponents may be building up a following on the side, so to speak. Certainly, the demonstration in Washington might have reflected a majority feeling of all citizens under the age of 25. If so, the only party in which they would have a voice would be the Democratic party.

in a weekend column, youthful writer Steven Levine talked about Sam Brown, one of the young leaders of today's anti-war movement. Brown, while apparently quite militant, believes in working within the framework of established political struc-

The vehicle to which Brown looks is the Democratic party. He says: "I have a strong feeling that most Americans would prefer to see a restructuring of the economy in a more equitable manner. They would prefer to see a foreign policy based on more positive value. They would prefer to live in a society in which a concept of justice is at least as important as law and order."

There you begin to see the second fallout for the Democratic party. While a majority still might support the President as things currently stand in Vietnam, that war has changed a lot of attitudes.

Vietnam is the end of the line for what it stands for and people want something else in the future. The Democratic party's anti-war attitude makes them the party to look for in seeking a change in directions in many areas for the future.

President Nixon has not come off well in most areas, including matters on the domestic scene. His welfare reform program was proven to be too little and too heavily laced with the work syndrome discussed separately on this page yesterday.

His drive to convert federal programs into block grants and revenue-sharing with the states has not met with much if any enthusiasm. His solutions to the unemployment problem have been usurped by Democratic proposals and the state of the economy in general remains shaky.

What the Vietnam situation may be doing is to give the Democratic party the motivation for a more sensitive approach to political matters all up and down the line. And by now, the party can lose nothing, at least, with its growing criticism of present U.S. Asia policy.

A great many people undoubtedly take issue with some of the more militant political activists on the scene today but we are of the feeling that the climate of opinion of the naion is shifting along the lines described in general terms above by Sam Brown.

The American people, short of some kind of drastic influence, seldom take kindly to militant action. Generally speaking, they do approve of an orderly approach to things and they have a lot of conventional convictions but they know that the nation has a great challenge to meet.

They know that not all things are right and they will be searching around for the party and the candidates who offer a possibility of change. The Vietnam war has contributed immensely to this feeling.

Environmental matters have also had a big impact upon the people, hammering home the reality of the need for greater understanding of the world in which we live. We seriously doubt that conservatism represents the wave of the future. whatever it might do for the GOP in Nebraska.

Railpax To Begin May 1; Half Passenger Trains Out

WASHINGTON — "The railroads are not run for the benefit of the dear public. That cry is all nonsense. They are built for men who invest their money and expect to get a fair percentage in return." That was William Henry Vanderbilt speaking as his special train approached Chicago on Oct. 8, 1882. Vanderbilt, president of the New York Central Railroad, also provided the two reporters interviewing him with a quote that has echoed through time — "The public be

Dear Dr. Thosteson: "Tennis elbow" is fairly common among my friends. Why do some doctors prescribe rest and immobility, while others inject cortisone and tell them to continue playing and keep the arm active?-Mrs. D.M. I can't explain why some doctors do this or do that. All I do is tell what is generally "Tennis elbow" is a form of bursitis or tendonitis, and I consider rest as a basic essential until the inflammation subsides.

Injected hydrocortisone may hasten healing and relieve pain very effectively, but for most complete healing, the elbow needs some rest from the strain that caused the trouble originally.

Perhaps your answer may depend on the extent of the inflammation in the elbow. If it isn't too severe, you can get away with some continued use, with cortisone to relieve the pain. But I don't think that is always the best treatment. Rest besides will do a better

Dear Sir: I have leg cramps. My toes draw under my foot. Is there a remedy?—P.H.

Usually. Or at least a lot of relief. Quinine medication often helps. More calcium in the diet may help. If foot strain-from shoes that don't give you proper support-is involved, a change in footwear should help. And if, as is often the case, poor circulation is an important factor, simple exercises to improve the circulation (Buerger's exercises) can do an amazing amount of good. Varicose veins may be a cause,

The curling of the toes is a rather common characteristic of leg cramps.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it detrimental to one's health to eat cucumber skins and watermelon rind?-G.R. Not harmful. Might be a little bitter to the taste, though. Dear Dr. Thosteson: How long is the incubation period for rabies? How many days before one is sure of not getting it?-Mrs. N. Incubation period is 10 days or longer. The virus can be transmitted by a bite, or by an animal licking a scratch or other area of broken skin, the virus being in the saliva. If the biting animal-dog, bat, wolf, skunk, or other, can be apprehended, it should be kept under observation for at least 10 days. If it hasn't developed rabies by then, feel Meantime, rabies vaccine or anti-serum should be started. If the animal is still well after five days, the treatment may be stopped. But if the animal was not caught, then the bitten person should continue treatment for 14 days to be cer-

dle East and post-Vietnam

For personal and religious reasons, Henry Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, has not played a prominent part either in U.S. Middle East or German policy.

In fact, there is some evidence that Kissinger's support for West Germany's efforts to reach an accommodation with the Soviet Union is not pronounced, and while he was deeply involved personally in Middle East policy when Syria attacked Jordan, he has left the development of the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations primarily to Rogers and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph

Rogers has not been pleased with the efforts of Israeli officials to lobby with U.S. senators against his policy, and was actually forced to have a secret meeting of the Senate in order to counteract the influence of the Israeli foreign assignment for Rogers and his minister, Abba Eban, who held

Also, time for a Middle East deal, and Nixon has finally authorized him to pursue his inquiries personally in the Middle East.

For Rogers, this is a critical mission. Participants at the annual convention were told that two developments in recent years have significantly boosted other techniques developed over the years in dentistry to save teeth that are abscessed, fractured, worn out or that have broken off.

Dr. Lloyd Baum, professor of restorative dentistry in Loma Linda, Calif., described one of these techniques as the use of miniature pins in teeth to which fillings can be firmly attached.

The other, Baum said, is the development of a tooth-colored filling material which has more longevity than synthetic porcelain.

The participants also viewed some 65 exhibits on display at Pershing Auditorium, All of the exhibits are related to various aspects of dentistry and include supplies, laboratories and insurance programs for dentists. Tuesday, the dentists will at-

Gardening Is Becoming Increasingly Popular Hobby Among Men them rich dividends for the

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

There was a time when men held the view that gardening was sissy work and that if a man had a garden at all, it should be no larger than his wife could maintain. While this is still sound thinking for men who have little time after working hours, or who travel on business, the number of men who garden for fun increases each year.

Some dichards feel that if a man does give in and garden, he can keep his self respect only if he confines himself to vegetables. This idea is definitely passe. It is refreshing to see more men's names each year on the prize cards at the flower shows and more women's names on exhibits of fine fruits and vegetables.

Think over the husbands and wives you know who are gardening partners, and see if they are not among the most contented married people in your circle. They have found a healthful hobby that will bring houseplants. Properly handled, gardening is a good safety valve for human relationships, including marriage. There is nothing rest of their lives. If, as they grow older, they find their garden too demanding, they need not give up gardening altogether; they have only to cut down on their activities or switch to another kind of horticulture. Even invalids, and shut-ins, can carry on,

with wheelchair gardens,

window boxes and better for working off ill humor than digging in a garden - providing you don't dig your partner's prized seedlings. People who sit indoors braiding and unbraiding their neuroses find that a bit of weeding helps to put their minds and nerves in good order. To gardeners, their hobby is a pleasant pastime that broadens their life beyond measure.

In season travel may be impossible for them, but in a tiny plot they can grow plants originally native in the four corners of the earth. In winter they can plan next year's garden, or explore the fascinating stories behind our Be warned that seed catalogs are a kind of mantrap. Your eyes are likely to be larger than your garden when you read glowing descriptions of rare, entrancingly lovely blossoms or of perfectly shaped, outsize vegetables, each of which will feed a family of five for days on end.

Restraint is in order, as those of us with a few years of Tuesday, Aprîl 27, 1971 experience can testify, for those seductively colored pictures engender a delightful state of coma in which you may order enough seed to plant acres. Don't be beguiled. Plan to plant a bit less than you think you can tend, and you will have time to enjoy what you have wrought.

That doesn't mean that you must limit yourself to a few sure things either. Be adventurous. Each year, try out one or two new things. Happy gardening! (c) 1971, McMaught Syndicate, Inc.

Gardening Is Becoming Increasingly Popular Hobby Among Men

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT

There was a time when men held the view that gardening was sissy work and that if a man had a garden at all, it should be no larger than his wife could maintain. While this is still sound thinking for men who have little time after working hours, or who travel on business, the number of men who garden for fun increases each year. Some diehards feel that if a man does give in and garden, he can keep his self respect only if he confines himself to vegetables. This idea is definitely passe. It is refreshing to see more men's names each year on the prize cards at the flower shows and more women's names on exhibits of fine fruits and vegetables.

Think over the husbands and wives you know who are gardening partners, and see if they are not among the most contented married people in your circle. They have found a healthful hobby that will bring

Effort To Save Original School Aid Bill Fails

By DON WALTON Star Staff Writer

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly Monday fell one vote short in an effort to salvage his bill to increase state aid to education before it reaches final reading in sharply amended form.

The bill, LB462, now proposes a constitutional amendment requiring the state to pay the full operational costs of elementary and secondary schools.

Should Be Heading For Derby

Any horseman with a 3-year-old, who has proven he or she can run a mile without falling down, should be headed for Louisville, Ky., right now.

That is if they thought enough of their 2-year-old filly or colt last winter to nominate him or her and a record

With the way things have gone in racing this year, that 223 record won't stand past next winter's nomination deadline with every owner of a 2-year-old, who showed he could stand up coming out of the starting gate likely to get nominated, at least.

Many owners of 3-year-olds, who have proven they can run a mile without falling down, may find out Saturday that their prize colt or filly can't go a mile and a quarter without falling down, but it'll only cost them $2,000 to find

Perhaps the greatest example of what that little extra distance that separates the men from the boys can do came in 1949 when a speedy colt named Olympia had won the Flamingo and the Wood Memorial, both at a mile and an eighth, a furlong shorter than the Derby distance.

On the strength of those victories, Olympia was an odds-on favorite as the 3-year-olds went to the Derby post. Olympia ran a great race in the Run For The Roses - for a mile and an eighth. But then five colts went around him in the final eighth of a mile with Ponder, a 16-1 shot, the

Bigger Entry Box Needed

If Hoist The Flag had not been injured, they might have been able to start this year's Derby field out of a couple of telephone booths.

As things now look, the 22-stall Churchill Downs starting gate isn't going to be big enough and the race may have to be run in two divisions for the first time.

When the horsemen line up Thursday morning to plunk their $1,000 checks in the entry box (it'll cost them another $1,000 Saturday to get into the starting gate), the line may be longer than those you see at the daily double window on pay day.

It's a little like the difference between a carnival using a big, burly 240-pounder or a skinny 96-pound weakling as its representative at the "take on all comers" stage.

But one of the horsemen standing in that long line Thursday morning probably won't be David Sandeman, the British wine and spirits merchant, who has dreams of having the first foreigner to win the Derby.

And it's just our luck that it's Sandeman's colt, Gaillard, whom we've got a $2 win ticket on at 50-to-1 odds from the Caliente Futures Book.

Splash at 40-to-1. Before the postal authorities rush in with their handcuffs,

We also had one a year ago on Sandeman's Double we'd like to plead not guilty to getting the tickets by mail from Mexico, a violation of Uncle Sam's statutes.

Mr. Sandeman used some of the money that drinkers of his products have deposited in his bank account to send a representative to Mexico to purchase the tickets for certain sports writers around the country.

Longer Shots Available

Double Splash did not start, nor is Gaillard likely to, but there are some longer shots than the Sandeman colt, who may be in the mammoth field.

For instance, there's Jr.'s Arrowhead at 1,000-to-1. Royal Leverage, a filly, at 5,000-to-1.

M. H. Van Berg's Mr. Bum Bum, a nominee who has been withdrawn from consideration, was listed at 60-to-1 by the Caliente Book.

The Ford Stables' Kuaui King, the 1966 winner, opened at 50-to-1 in the Caliente Book, but by Derby time was down to 5-to-1 and went off at $2.40-to-1.

Dust Commander, last year's winner, opened at 100-to-1, closed at 30-to-1 with Caliente and went off at $16.30-to-1 at Churchill Downs.

Eight Lesser Lights Enter Derby Trial Stakes

Louisville (4) - Eight lesser candidates for the 97th Kentucky Derby were entered Monday in the Derby Trial Stakes, a race that in recent years has produced more Derby threats than Derby winners.

Vegas Vic, Charles Fritz and Betty Sochrest's third finisher in the Saulta Derby, heads the field for the one-mile trial today, where perhaps three will earn credentials for at least a Derby start.

Going with the son of T.V. Lark will be George Holtsinger's Bopdavelle, Philip Teinowitz's On The Money, J. I. and R. W. Losen's Prospect Hill, Fred Gabler's Rapid Tim, Aisco Stable's Fourullah, Bruno Ferrari's Jr's Arrowhead and Everett Lowrance's Martini Again.

As their names were dropped into the Trial entry box, the potential stars of the $125,000-added Derby on Saturday at 4:30 p.m., CST, lolled in their barns, took leisurely gallops around the Churchill Downs track and munched blue grass.

Two of them, however, had yet to arrive in Louisville, although California Derby winner Unconscious was en route by plane from the West Coast and trainer John Campo said Santa Anita Derby winner Jim French would fly from New York Wednesday.

"We'll breeze him Wednesday morning just before we leave," Campo said, adding that Jim French "definitely is the horse to beat" in the 11/4-mile Derby "off his campaign and the way he has been training."

Like the trainers of other top Derby hopefuls, Campo fears the large Derby field that is probable this year. At the moment, 23 horses still are possible starters.

"If the field is that large, it will be iust racing luck that determines who wins it," Campe said by telephone from his Beimont Park office. "I agree that in a field that large, it could be won or lost on the first turn.'

Campo would much rather see a field of 15 or less in the race, to be seen on nationwide television CBS and heard worldwide on radio.

But such eligibles as Saigon Warrior, winner of only one of 16 starts in his career. will start in the Derby "because this is the kind of year when anyone could win it," owner-trainer Charles M. Day said.

"Maybe we're a little out of our league.

but we'll just have to find that out," Day said as the son of Beau Garcon he purchased for $2,200 as a yearling toured the track in an early morning workout.

Saigon Warrior's best races beside his victory in a maiden race were a second and third in allowance company at Oaklawn Park and a third in a Keeneland allowance.

"But he was up there knocking with them and I think he can go a distance of ground. The way horses have been beating each other, I think we might have a shot at it," the Oklahoma oil man said.

A few barns away, trainer Reggie Cornell was saying he still doesn't have a definite rider for Bold and Able, the early speed in his Calumet Farm entry for the Derby. Howard Grant rode Bold and Able to a three-length victory in Saturday's 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse, but could have a commitment for the Derby if Vegas Vic is a

"If Grant isn't available, Jorge Valasquez may ride Bold and Able Saturday. He's ridden him before in three victories and a fourth place finish at Hialeah and knows him." Cornell said. Grant will be aboard Vegas Vic in today's Trial and a creditable performance would put him back in the Derby, where four Trial winners have finished second in the past 10 years.

However, the last Trial winner to annex the blanket of roses that goes with a Derby victory was Tim Tam in 1958, although the trial was a top Derby prep in earlier

None of the other Trial candidates have stakes backgrounds and one of them, Martini Again, won at Keeneland for a $12,000 claiming price April 13 after finishing 14 lengths behind the winner in the Lecomte Handicap at the Fairgrounds last month.

Rapid Tim's only victory of the season was in a $4,750 allowance where he was awarded first money on a disqualification.

Bopdavelle has won just one of six races this year, but was fourth in the Arkansas Derby. Jr's Arrowhead and Prospect Hill each have won, but the rest of the Trial field — On The Money and Fourullah -

DEVANEY DISAPPOINTED

By HAL BROWN Star Sports Editor

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney has had many high points in his highly-successful coaching career, the highest, of course, being his 1970 Cornhusker football team being named No. 1.

He also has had a few disappointments, such as a 47-0 loss to Oklahoma a couple of years ago, two disappointing setbacks to Alabama in the Orange and Sugar Bowls and having an undefeated 1963 season wiped out by a lastminute pass completion for a touchdown by the Air Force.

But late Monday afternoon when he learned of Gov. J. J. Exon's veto of the bill to build a new NU Fieldhouse, he dropped his head and it was clear to the five newsmen with him that this was among the major disappointments of his athletic career.

"I'm very disappointed in the veto." he admitted. "I think it might be better if the governor didn't go around the state pinning No. 1 buttons on

Should Be Heading For Derby

Any horseman with a 3-year-old, who has proven he or she can run a mile without falling down, should be headed for Louisville, Ky., right now.

That is if they thought enough of their 2-year-old filly or colt last winter to nominate him or her and a record

With the way things have gone in racing this year, that 223 record won't stand past next winter's nomination deadline with every owner of a 2-year-old, who showed he could stand up coming out of the starting gate likely to get nominated, at least.

Many owners of 3-year-olds, who have proven they can run a mile without falling down, may find out Saturday that their prize colt or filly can't go a mile and a quarter without falling down, but it'll only cost them $2,000 to find

Perhaps the greatest example of what that little extra distance that separates the men from the boys can do came in 1949 when a speedy colt named Olympia had won the Flamingo and the Wood Memorial, both at a mile and an eighth, a furlong shorter than the Derby distance.

On the strength of those victories, Olympia was an odds-on favorite as the 3-year-olds went to the Derby post. Olympia ran a great race in the Run For The Roses - for a mile and an eighth. But then five colts went around him in the final eighth of a mile with Ponder, a 16-1 shot, the

If Hoist The Flag had not been injured, they might have been able to start this year's Derby field out of a couple of telephone booths.

As things now look, the 22-stall Churchill Downs starting gate isn't going to be big enough and the race may have to be run in two divisions for the first time.

When the horsemen line up Thursday morning to plunk their $1,000 checks in the entry box (it'll cost them another $1,000 Saturday to get into the starting gate), the line may be longer than those you see at the daily double window on pay day.

It's a little like the difference between a carnival using a big, burly 240-pounder or a skinny 96-pound weakling as its representative at the "take on all comers" stage.

But one of the horsemen standing in that long line Thursday morning probably won't be David Sandeman, the British wine and spirits merchant, who has dreams of having the first foreigner to win the Derby.

And it's just our luck that it's Sandeman's colt, Gaillard, whom we've got a $2 win ticket on at 50-to-1 odds from the Caliente Futures Book.

We also had one a year ago on Sandeman's Double Splash at 40-to-1.

Before the postal authorities rush in with their handcuffs. we'd like to plead not guilty to getting the tickets by mail from Mexico, a violation of Uncle Sam's statutes.

Mr. Sandeman used some of the money that drinkers of his products have deposited in his bank account to send a representative to Mexico to purchase the tickets for certain sports writers around the country

Longer Shots Available

Double Splash did not start, nor is Gaillard likely to, but there are some longer shots than the Sandeman colt, who may be in the mammoth field.

For instance, there's Jr.'s Arrowhead at 1,000-to-1, Royal Leverage, a filly, at 5,000-to-1.

M. H. Van Berg's Mr. Bum Bum, a nominee who has been withdrawn from consideration, was listed at 60-to-1 by

The Ford Stables' Kuaui King, the 1966 winner, opened at 50-to-1 in the Caliente Book, but by Derby time was down to 5-to-1 and went off at $2.40-to-1.

Dust Commander, last year's winner, opened at 100-to-1, closed at 30-to-1 with Caliente and went off at $16.30-to-1 at Churchill Downs.

The last eight winners with opening Caliente odds, closing

Eight Lesser Lights Enter Derby Trial Stakes

Louisville (A) - Eight lesser candidates for the 97th Kentucky Derby were entered Monday in the Derby Trial Stakes, a race that in recent years has produced more Derby threats than Derby winners.

Vegas Vic, Charles Fritz and Betty Sechrest's third finisher in the Sanita Derby, heads the field for the one-mile trial today, where perhaps three will earn credentials for at least a Derby start.

Going with the son of T.V. Lark will be George Holtsinger's Bopdavelle, Philip Teinowitz's On The Money, J. I. and R. W. Losen's Prospect Hill, Fred Gabler's Rapid Tim, Aisco Stable's Fourullah, Bruno Ferrari's Jr's Arrowhead and Everett Lowrance's Martini Again.

As their names were dropped into the Trial entry box, the potential stars of the $125,000-added Derby on Saturday at 4:30 p.m., CST, lolled in their barns, took leisurely gallops around the Churchill Downs track and munched blue grass.

Two of them, however, had yet to arrive in Louisville, although California Derby winner Unconscious was en route by plane from the West Coast and trainer John Campo said Santa Anita Derby winner Jim French would fly from New York Wednesday.

"We'll breeze him Wednesday morning just before we leave," Campo said, adding that Jim French "definitely is the horse to beat" in the 1¼-mile Derby "off his campaign and the way he has been training."

Like the trainers of other top Derby hopefuls, Campo fears the large Derby field that is probable this year. At the moment, 23 horses still are possible starters.

"If the field is that large, it will be just racing luck that determines who wins it," Campo said by telephone from his Belmont Park office. "I agree that in a field that large, it could be won or lost on the

Campo would much rather see a field of 15 or less in the race, to be seen on nationwide television CBS and heard worldwide on radio.

But such eligibles as Saigon Warrior, winner of only one of 16 starts in his career, will start in the Derby "because this is the kind of year when anyone could win it," owner-trainer Charles M. Day said.

"Maybe we're a little out of our league,

but we'll just have to find that out," Day said as the son of Beau Garcon he purchased for $2,200 as a yearling toured the track in an early morning workout.

Saigon Warrior's best races beside his victory in a maiden race were a second and third in allowance company at Oaklawn Park and a third in a Keeneland allowance.

"But he was up there knocking with them and I think he can go a distance of ground. The way horses have been beating each other, I think we might have a shot at it." the Oklahoma oil man said.

A few barns away, trainer Reggie Cornell was saying he still doesn't have a definite rider for Bold and Able, the early speed in his Calumet Farm entry for the Derby.

Howard Grant rode Bold and Able to a three-length victory in Saturday's 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse, but could have a commitment for the Derby if Vegas Vic is a

"If Grant isn't available, Jorge Valasquez may ride Bold and Able Saturday. He's ridden him before in three victories and a fourth place finish at Hialeah and knows him," Cornell said.

Grant will be aboard Vegas Vic in today's Trial and a creditable performance would put him back in the Derby, where four Trial winners have finished second in the past 10 years. However, the last Trial winner to annex the blanket of roses that goes with a Derby victory was Tim Tam in 1958, although the trial was a top Derby prep in earlier

None of the other Trial candidates have stakes backgrounds and one of them, Martini Again, won at Keeneland for a $12,000 claiming price April 13 after finishing 14 lengths behind the winner in the Lecomte Handicap at the Fairgrounds last month.

Rapid Tim's only victory of the season was in a $4,750 allowance where he was awarded first money on a disqualification.

Bopdavelle has won just one of six races this year, but was fourth in the Arkansas Derby. Jr's Arrowhead and Prospect Hill each have won, but the rest of the Trial field - On The Money and Fourullah -

Star Sports Editor Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney has had many high points in his highly-successful coaching career, the highest. of course, being his 1970 Cornhusker football team being named No. 1.

He also has had a few disappointments, such as a 47-0 loss to Oklahoma a couple of years ago, two disappointing setbacks to Alabama in the Orange and Sugar Bowls and having an undefeated 1963 season wiped out by a lastminute pass completion for a touchdown by the Air Force.

But late Monday afternoon when he learned of Gov. J. J. Exon's veto of the bill to build a new NU Fieldhouse, he dropped his head and it was clear to the five newsmen with him that this was among the major disappointments of his athletic career.

"I'm very disappointed in the veto," he admitted. "I think it might be better if the governor didn't go around the state pinning No. 1 buttons on

Tackles Juggled Again

By HAL BROWN Star Sports Editor

For the second straight week Nebraska's offensive tackles were juggled following grading of scrimmage films by the Husker coaching staff.

Monday found former right tackle Darryl White, a sophomore, moved to the other side of the line at the No. 1 spot ahead of Bob Wolfe and Carl Johnson moving up at No. 1 right tackle.

Sophomore Alan Austin, who had been the No. 2 left tackle, moved over to No. 2 right tackle backing up Johnson.

"White and Johnson graded the best among our tackles in the films," head coach Bob Devaney explained, "So we decided to get them both on the first unit."

In another offensive move, sophomore Jeff Hill was moved from split end to No. 2 wingback behind veterans Johnny Rodgers and Jeff Hughes, who are sharing time on the No. 1 unit.

"A main reason for that move was that Johnson is hurt slight-

McClelland at safety. Gary Hollstein was switched

Garson's appearance in the defensive backfield was an experiment started last week and Devaney said the experiment would continue this week.

Another experiment being continued this week is looking at tackle Rich Glover at middle guard and Devaney said coaches also would take a look at middle guard Monte Johnson at tackle.

Japanese Embarrass Australia

Tokyo (A) -- The amateur tennis fortunes of Australia took another dip Monday when Japan eliminated the Aussies in the Eastern Zone Section A finals of Davis Cup play.

Toshiro Sakai completed the upset with a dramatic 6-1, 15-13, 8-6 victory over John Cooper in the deciding singles match, giving Japan a 3-2 triumph in the best-of-5 match series.

Not only was it Japan's first victory over Australia in 50 years, it also assured the Australians of missing the Challenge Round against defending champion United States for the third consecutive year. Previously, the Aussies had a record of 25 consecutive Challenge Round appearances.

Sakai's marathon three-hour won the first set and was dead-locked 10-10 before darkness forced a carry over to Monday. He went on to win the second set and then survived two set points to win the third.

Police Probe Stabbing Of 17-Year-Old

Police are investigating an incident in which a 17-year-old Lincoln youth was stabbed in the throat and stomach early Saturday morning during a fight at a party on So. 22nd St.

After being contacted by Lincoln General Hospital officials in regard to Joseph Pickett, 17, of 2250 Potter, being treated for "near fatal" stab wounds to his neck, police talked with Pickett, who told them that he had gone to the party with some friends and was on the front porch observing two other persons fighting when he was struck from behind and stabbed.

Police reported that later Saturday officers were sent to the residence where the stabbing had occurred after receiving reports that someone was shooting up a house and a large group of youths was gather-

According to police, three .22 caliber bullet holes were located in the kitchen door in the apartment along with other damage.

One youth told police that he was standing in the doorway when Pickett, who had been released from the hospital, came up to him, pushed a pistol in his stomach, forcing him from the doorway outside, and told him to jump from the porch. The youth said shooting occurred shortly after Pickett and his friends were reportedly looking for another youth who had been involved in the earlier fight.

Police officials said that no charges have been filed yet but that the investigation is contin-

3 Orchestras To Participate In 'Showcase'

Southeast Nebraska Bureau Beatrice - Few Nebraska schools claim even one symphony orchestra, but this one will present three in concert at its "Orchestra Showcase — 1971" Tuesday night.

Most unusual group is the 74piece Beatrice Little Symphony. comprised of fifth and sixth graders from the town's five grade schools. Joan Davison is director.

Maxine Stone directs the two older groups, one of which is the largest junior high orchestra in the state. Fifty-eight strings and 25 winds and percussions make up this group.

Versatility is the specialty of the 48 high schoolers, who will present baroque, romantic and "now" music. Featured will be six violists: Charlotte Wiebe, Marilyn Lemon, Rebekah Spilker, Richard Stephens, Donald Severance and Barabara

The entire viola section will be performing movements from the Telemann Concerto," said Miss Stone, a state leader in orchestral instruction. "Yet it is unusual to find even one high school violist who can handle something this demanding."

The 7:30 p.m. program will be at Beatrice Municipal Auditorium.

Northern Gas To Seek 9% Hike In Rates

Omaha (A) - Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, announced Monday it has filed with the Federal Power Commission to increase its wholesale rates for natural gas to its utility customers by $18.3 million. Northern asked for a 9% rate of Northern supplies natural gas to 76 utility customers serving 1.092 communities in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wisconsin. The company said the increase would represent an approximate increase of 6.5% in Northern's annual wholesale gas revenues. The adjustment is necessary, Northern said, because of increased costs associated with finding and acquiring new gas supplies, increased costs of securing capital, increased operating costs resulting from inflationary pressures and the need for a higher rate of depreciation on its facilities.

President Nixon told businessmen the nation had seen the worst of the current inflation and that the economy was really getting back on its feet.

However, analysts noted investors showed little response to Nixon's speech because they felt there was little new in his pronouncements.

There were 113 big blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board, compared with 160 big blocks on Friday. The

Steady Price On Fed Cattle Is Reported

Omaha (A) - Fed cattle prices shaped up generally steady in a rather slow trade at Omaha Monday.

The trade lacked the necessary push to sustain the firm tone evident late last week. At that time, a turn-around in the dressed beef trade helped spark a smart recovery from sharp opening setback, and some trade helped spark a smart recovery from trade opening setback, and some trade helped spark opening setback. observers expected the improving tone to continue over the weekend and into the current

However, while a steady tone New ParkM prevailed on the current session, it had little backing as buyers once again presented a cautious and selective stance. Cows sold on a firm basis while other cattle classes were little changed.

Commodities Dip Under Heavy Selling Pressure

Chicago (A) — Commodity futures came under heavy liquidating pressure again on the Chicago Board of Trade Mon-

Soybeans, corn and wheat futures declined nearly 3 cents a bushel, while oats closed 2 cents

The second straight day of declining prices sent soybeans futures down by a total of nearly 7 cents, and wheat and corn nearly 6 cents lower. Oats have now lost 31/2 cents in the last

The strongest influence on prices Monday was the generally fair weather that prevailed over the Midwest prevailed over the Midwest Salem F 5.1 during last weekend. It permitted most farmers to nearly complete field work, preparatory to seeding. The planting of corn, oats and soybeans was well under way in southern sections of the Midwest and about complete in the

How To Invest Money

Know Our Purpose

Professor "X" of the Agriculture College in Lincoln came in the office the other day with a suggestion. He said in effect "I have been coming in your office for years getting advice and counsel. Why don't you sign your ads 'Ellis, Holyoke & Co., Investment Counselors?'." He said "You have been very helpful; people don't konw what you do."

Our answer was that it would be against the rules as we are not registered as investment counselors and receive a fee as such. We get our profit only from making purchases or sales. We have two kinds of customers, those that care what we think and those that don't. They are not always the same persons. Obviously we and/or the customers can be wrong. However, we try to be right because it is fundamental that if we are wrong, we less the systems. we lose the customer. Our purpose is to give you investments that are safe, produce income and make a profit doing it.

What do we do? We will sell you stocks and/or bonds (investments) that we own or if we don't own them, we will buy or sell them for you at standard com-missions. Perhaps we had better sign this ad a little differently than ELLIS, HOLYOKE & CO.

Mrs. Nevels, the project manager, said five garls are now housed in the temporary quarters and a waiting list is growing. The program has been in operation for about three weeks, she said.

Girls 16 To 18 The program is aimed mainly at girls 16 to 18 who are alienated "from their home and institutional guidance," Mrs. Nevels explained in a letter to the committee.

It aims at enabling them to adjust to living constructive lives, she said.

The foundation officers asked Executive Director John Frey to study further the request from the Lincoln Public Schools.

Lincoln School Supt. John Prasch told the committee the advancements in computer science and television have come faster than "our ability to keep up" with them.

Flere is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper lett-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers lett to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
